VOL. 15 - NEWSLETTER N° 135
JANUARY-FEBRUARY 2019

EMBARQUE

As you have probably noticed, our brand-new digital marine careers promotion campaign has been active on the Sectorial Committee's Facebook and Instagram pages since late November 2018!

Each week, various publications are posted to enhance our content, inform our subscribers and create a feeling of belonging to this wonderful industry. In March 2019, a new website will be launched to support our many publications, assemble information and guide future marine industry workers by offering various tools enabling them to discover the many career opportunities the sector offers.

A three-year venture, the EMBARQUE campaign is a Human Resources Sectorial Committee of the Maritime Industry (CSMOIM) initiative and is supported by the Québec Maritime Strategy.

MARINE PERSONNEL REGULATIONS WORKSHOP: FEBRUARY 20, 2019

With February looming on the horizon, the Sectorial Committee is pleased to announce the return of the Marine Personnel Regulations Workshop!

Following the event's annual success, the Sectorial Committee is once again bringing all marine industry stakeholders together to discuss the issues and regulatory requirements governing navigating personnel training and certification. Note that the workshop will run again this year at Hôtel Québec (3115, avenue des Hôtels, Québec, QC, G1W 3Z6).

In keeping with the same formula as in past years, the Sectorial Committee has reached an agreement with Transport Canada for the main Marine Personnel Regulations-related elements raised in the workshop to be presented at the Regional Marine Advisory Council (RMAC) meeting to be held in March in Québec City. Under this agreement, Transport Canada representatives in Québec will also ensure that, again this year, workshop participants' questions and concerns are forwarded to Transport Canada marine regulatory authorities in Ottawa for appropriate follow-up.

The Marine Personnel Regulations Workshop agenda will be sent to participants before the event.

Don't miss this key activity on Wednesday, February 20 at Hôtel Québec!

SECTORIAL COMMITTEE TO TAKE PART IN 9TH EDITION OF IMQ INTERNSHIPS FAIR!

On January 30 and 31, Susan and Josée-Ève will head for the Institut maritime du Québec in Rimouski to take part in the IMQ's 9th internships fair, meeting with students to give them tools and information about career opportunities in the marine industry once they have finished their studies.

They will also tell them about the Sectorial Committee, its mission and the services it offers.

LAST CALL: MON ST-LAURENT INSPIRANT CONTEST

In partnership with the Fondation Monique-Fitz-Back, we invite you to participate in the Mon St-Laurent inspirant drawing contest, whose entry deadline is February 15, 2019.

The contest invites young people aged 4 to 20 throughout Québec to express their vision of the St. Lawrence River through the arts (drawing, painting, collage, etc.). This year, encourage your youngsters to portray what the St. Lawrence inspires in them.

The contest offers numerous prizes (cash awards, whale-watching cruises, art materials, etc.), including a participation award to be drawn among teachers whose students participated.

SEVERAL SUCCESSFUL GENERAL SHIPPING KNOWLEDGE TRAINING SESSIONS IN RECENT MONTHS!

For the first time since the inception of our in-house training session General Shipping Knowledge, which initiates new marine-sector employees to the industry, the training ran in Mont-Joli. Here, on November 22, 2018, 28 participants from the Maurice Lamontagne Institute learned more about the marine industry and its stakeholders.

Given by Nicolas Parent, Senior Consultant with CPCS, the training session also featured short presentations on two Québec maritime organizations. Noémie Giguère, Technopole maritime du Québec, and Jerry Young, Innovation maritime, spoke to participants about their respective organizations' missions and projects.

The training was repeated in Longueuil on November 28, initiating another 20 individuals to the marine industry. This time, the guest speakers were Daniel Olivier, Port of Montréal, and Éric Sauvé, Corporation des pilotes du Saint-Laurent Central.

A perfect introduction to the marine sector for all!

Depending on the number of participants, the General Shipping Knowledge training session can also be given directly in private companies. The Maritime Employers Association (MEA) hosted it on December 6 in its Montréal offices.

SECTORIAL COMMITTEE'S FIRST QUARIERA PARTICIPATION!

This February 21, for the first time, the Sectorial Committee will participate in the exhibitors' fair of this rendez-vous for employment professionals to be held at Québec City's Hôtel Le Concorde from 7:00 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. The event will allow our team to meet with these professionals, who are excellent partners in relaying information and promoting marine-sector careers.

A very important day for the Sectorial Committee!
